

YOUTH KILLED AS HE SIDESWIPES A POLE NEAR PENNS PARK IN AN EARLY MORNING RIDE; AGED MAN IS INJURED

Hugo Leonard, 17, Bryn Athyn Academy Student, Victim in Fatal Crash — Companion, Bruce Pitcairn, is Hurt — Another Accident Results in Injury To A Riegelsville Man.

Two accidents investigated by Pennsylvania State Police in Bucks County on the holiday included one in which a youth of 17 years met his death while he and a chum were on an early morning ride.

The dead lad:
Hugo Leonard, 17, a student at the Bryn Athyn Academy, Bryn Athyn, Montgomery County.

Injured in the same accident is Bruce Pitcairn, 17, son of Harold F. Pitcairn, of Bryn Athyn, who was treated at Abington Hospital for shock and bruises. He also lost two teeth in the crash.

According to Officers Sauer and Emery, Pennsylvania State Police, Doylestown barracks, Leonard was a house guest of young Pitcairn at Bryn Athyn. At about four o'clock yesterday morning, while the Pitcairn family was away, the two boys decided to take an early morning ride. They left the Pitcairn home in the Pitcairn station wagon, with Leonard at the wheel, investigation shows. They drove to the Newtown section, and enroute home at about six o'clock, while on Second street Pike, one-quarter of a mile south of Penns Park, the automobile swerved off the left shoulder and side-swiped a pole, tearing off the side of the station wagon. Leonard was thrown to the gutter where he was found a short time later.

Passing the scene soon after the accident, Bruce S. Gronlund, another student at Bryn Athyn Academy, recognized Pitcairn as the latter wandered about in a dazed condition. After talking with Pitcairn, Gronlund took him to Abington Hospital for treatment.

Bucks County Coroner J. Alfred Higby, Cornwall Heights, issued a certificate stating that death of Leonard was due to accidental causes. The body was removed to a funeral home at Wycombe. No arrests were made.

In the second accident investigated on the holiday, Joseph Scott, 71, of Riegelsville, was injured while crossing Bethlehem Pike, 1½ miles north of Quakertown last evening. He was struck by an automobile operated by Leo A. Rapp, 49, of Glenolden.

Scott suffered abrasions of the face and fracture of the left ankle. Treatment was given at Quakertown Hospital. Scott being removed there in an ambulance.

According to Penna. State Police at Bucks County barracks, traffic on the county highways yesterday morning was heavy, but unusually light during the afternoon. The officers foresee heavy traffic for tomorrow.

China Relief Committee Mails Out Appeals

The second committee meeting of the United Service to China Campaign was held at the home of Mrs. Richard I. McKinney, 1807 Benson Place, Monday night.

Fred R. Herrmann, Chairman for the Sixth Annual United Service to China Drive in Bristol, told of the havoc of health in China. These are hospitals built in hillside caves in China during the war to safeguard patients from Japanese bombing. They are still being utilized because of the lack of building materials and the great need for medical care.

Supported by the China Aid Council, the cave hospitals strengthen China's inadequate public health system and although they have only minimum equipment and trained personnel, they are rated almost as high in efficiency as are American hospitals.

Contributions to the current campaign of United Service to China, of which China Aid Council is a co-operating agency, will support this important work and that of six other American organizations providing urgently needed assistance for the people of our courageous war-time ally.

Letters of appeal for help were addressed and mailed by the members of the Bristol committee.

Must Provide Good Character Example, He Says

"The greatest responsibility you must meet in building character is in providing the example," Clarence E. Tobias, Jr., former headmaster of the Perkiomen School for Boys, told Rotarians at a luncheon session of the club in the Elks' home, Thursday afternoon, when he spoke on the subject, "Character Building."

Tobias, who is presently associated with the Provident Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia, declared, "there is nothing more important in character building than a good biography, for we become like that which we admire."

"We have our design for character building . . . we know the difference between right and wrong. And we have the material . . . the human heart and mind."

"Although we often build character to withstand just the ordinary strains of life, yet we fall short, for we should build for the maximum strains," the speaker concluded.

The speaker was the Rev. J. Lawrence Pitt, Trenton, N. J., who addressed the large crowd assembled at the memorial plot between Bristol and St. Mark's cemeteries, yesterday morning. It was the occasion for dedication of a memorial monument and flag pole in honor of those who paid the supreme sacrifice.

SENTENCES IMPOSED ON SIX COLORED MEN

Charged With the Unlawful Manufacture, Possession of Alcoholic Liquor

"WHITE MULE" FOUND

DOYLESTOWN, May 31—Six colored defendants were convicted and sentenced, all being charged with unlawful manufacture and possession of alcoholic liquor. The cases were heard before Judge Calvin S. Boyer in criminal court here.

Those sentenced are: Shelton Cooper, $100 fine or one month in prison; Jasper Lewis, $250 fine or two months in prison; John Simon, $250 fine or two months in prison; John E. Brown, $200 fine or two months in prison; George and Clarence Hogg, $250 fine or two months in prison.

William A. Heller, 32, Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board Enforcement Officer, the first witness for the Commonwealth, testified that he accompanied a party of "raiding officers" to a property on Avenue K, near Trevoise, April 25, when they found alcohol in hot water bottles and a still in an excavation beneath a chicken house.

The still, a one-hundred gallon copper unit, was not in operation, but a car arrived at the scene while the raid was in progress with 100 lbs. of sugar. Five hot water bottles were on the dining room table filled with alcoholic fluid.

Dr. Joseph W. E. Harrison, consultant in chemistry, testified that the various liquids, picked up by the State Police and Enforcement Officers, contained so-called "white mule," mash or brew.

Chemical analysis indicated 35.4 per cent alcoholic content and in one case 70.8 proof.

The United Mine Workers have sent a check for $1,000 to each family of the victims of the disaster at Centralia, Illinois. Pictures of John L. Lewis signing these checks have appeared in the papers.

Not so well known is what the Monsanto Chemical Company did for the victims of the disaster at Texas City, Texas.

This explosion was in no wise the fault of Monsanto. The ship that exploded in the harbor was neither owned by Monsanto, nor was it loaded with chemicals made or used by Monsanto. But what Monsanto did "beyond the line of duty" is worthy of record.

Two hundred and twenty-seven men and women were lost at the Monsanto plant. Under its group insurance plan, the widow or beneficiary of each of the victims will receive from $6,000 to $8,000 in insurance. In addition, each widow or beneficiary will receive $20 a week for seven years, or $7,200 more. Monsanto paid another $1,000 immediately. Cash benefits to each family of those killed will, therefore, total from $15,200 to $17,200.

In addition, Monsanto will pay all hospital costs not covered by

The Girl Scouts, sponsored by Bristol Methodist Church, on Tuesday evening prepared and served a dinner to troop committee members. This was the girls' last cooking assignment in order to earn their cook's badges. The committee, after partaking of the meal, commended the 19 girls present on their cooking and serving ability.

Miss Joan Esterline welcomed the guests, and Miss Rose Anne Mills said grace. The menu consisted of: Fruit cup, meat loaf, mashed potatoes, gravy, garden tossed salad, peas and carrots, hot biscuits, corn muffins and butter, tea or coffee, baked apple dumpling with custard sauce, nuts, mints.

The table was set off by a bouquet of sweet peas, on either side of which were miniature glass bowls filled with pansies and wild fern grass. Iris coronations for the women and pansy boutonnieres for the men were at the plates. These flower arrangements were created by Joanne Hyde. Yellow and green candles and napkins were arranged on the tables by Ida May McChesney and Doris Hogan. Favors of clothes-pin dolls, dressed as Girl Scouts, green and yellow nut cups and menu programs graced each place, these being made by Lillian Trochenboud, Charlotte Smith, "Betty" Dietrich, Ruth Ann Clark, Shirley Keller, Eleanor Viviani, Joyce Conna and Rose Anne Mills. SIX "TARGETS" FOR A SUCCESSFUL LIFE GIVEN GRADUATES

Dr. Kindred Asks Bristol
Twp. Jr. H. S. Group
Pertinent Questions

CERTIFICATES GIVEN

American Legion Awards
Received by Charlotte
Booz, Mark Wallace

Certificates of promotion were presented 114 who have completed Bristol Township Junior High School studies, following an address Thursday evening by Dr. Leslie W. Kindred, here.

In addition to the certificates, given at exercises in Bristol high school auditorium, American Legion school awards were presented, scholarship award, and athletic trophies. The auditorium was filled on this occasion, with pupils participating in musical selections and other special numbers.

In delivering his message, "How Do You Measure Up?", Dr. Kindred, professor of secondary education at Temple University, Philadelphia, by means of seven questions, directed thoughts of the junior high graduates to six targets. This was done through queries put to them, namely: 1. How well do you get along with people? 2. Do you play the game squarely? 3. How much have you thought about the problem of earning your living? 4. How well do you meet people? 5. How tolerant are you in your attitude toward other people? 6. How do you choose your friends? 7. What kind of hobbies and interests do you have?

In giving stress to certain of these points the speaker reminded that "You'll live with people until you die. Success depends much on how you get along with other people."

In regard to choice of life work he informed that in this country there are 54,000 kinds of jobs. Particular attention was given the question of tolerance, the young folks being reminded that "We've got to have much more understanding of others." The value of hobbies was impressed upon them also. "Hobbies prevent you from becoming bored with life. This is the time of life to develop as many hobbies and interests as possible. . . . You are entering a most important period of mental development. You should set up targets to shoot at in order to become the kind of men and women you wish to be."

Dr. Kindred was introduced to the group by Walter Miller, a member of Bristol township faculty.

American Legion school award for boys was presented to Mark Wallace by Robert Downing, representing Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 382, and the American Legion Auxiliary school award, gift of the Bracken Post Auxiliary, was presented by Mrs. Earl McEuen to Charlotte Booz. These were for honor, courage, scholarship, leadership, service, and other traits of character. Winner of the scholarship award, gift of William Knight, a member of the board of education, was received by Dorothy Bailey, one of the graduates.

Two Youth Baseball League trophies were presented, these being gifts of the business men who three years ago organized the league. Both trophies went to Bristol Township Junior High School, they being given winning team in the league and winning team in the play-off. In accepting these for the school, Mr. Miller expressed the hope that "teams of the future will be as outstanding in ability and courage."

Those recommended for promotion to senior high school by supervising principal Andrew Jackson, are:

THE MISSOURI SCANDAL

A tree can travel no farther than its roots.

The roots of the Truman Administration are deep in gang politics. Its background is that of the dirtiest, most corrupt, most shameless machine practices which unscrupulous big-city Democratic bosses, aided at times by their political cousins in the labor rackets, have been able to invent.

If the new scandal in Missouri does not awaken the American people to the facts of public life, then the well-known tagline of Pennsylvania documents, "God Save the Commonwealth," may properly be recast to fit the nation: "God Save Uncle Sam!"

The Missouri scandal, unlike some of the others which have paraded before the citizens of this country, is simple and easy to understand.

A gang of safe-crackers, described by investigators as "professionals," broke into the vault of the Kansas City Board of Election Commissioners and stole the evidence which proved that the victory over Congressman Slaughter in last August's primary, in a fight which was led personally by President Truman, was won by fraudulent, corrupt means.

Now, professional safe-crackers would have no use, themselves, for the ballots, poll-books and tally sheets which were taken. On their own, they would be after cash or securities or jewelry. Documents usable for blackmail might interest them. But in this case, the moment the evidence fell into unauthorized hands, its legal value was almost wholly destroyed; it can now no longer be used even for blackmail.

What this means is inescapable. Someone hired the safe-crackers. Someone made it worth their while. Someone contacted them, someone arranged for them to come to Kansas City, someone gave them the "layout," someone has or will pay off royally for their successful raid.

That someone is on the "inside." Anyone on the inside in this district is, by the nature of things, a confidant of the remnants of the Pendergast gang. Whom he talked to ahead of time, how many others were "in" on the matter, what his

WHEN THE SUN HIDES

The sun hides his secrets well. Periods of total eclipse, during which scientists can study phe- nomena usually hidden by the solar glare, are short and far apart. That is why expeditions of scientists from all over the world have been in the wilds of Brazil traveling weeks and thousands of miles to attend a four-minute event.

In a century there will be ap- proximately 80 total eclipses of the sun. The longest in this cen- tury will last, in its total phase, a little more than seven minutes. Some of the others will be mere token eclipses—too brief to be worth sending an expedition to. Altogether the periods of totality when the earth is dark and a corona is visible to persons within the oval of the moon's shadow will total no more than 250 min- utes in a century.

That is little enough time to study cosmic rays, temperatures and pressures, measure the star- light bend predicted by Einstein's theory, photograph the corona, check tides, temperatures and at- mospheric pressures, and perform all the scientific chores involved in attending a battery of instruments.

As most of the earth's surface is water, many eclipses occur out to sea, where good observation is difficult. Many eclipses are hid- den by clouds. And a scientist's working life, especially that part of it when he is able to go on long jaunts, is only a small fraction of a century.

But a total solar eclipse is as awful and lovely as it is elusive. Those who see one never forget it.

STILL THE BACKBONE

The infantry, rightly called the "Queen of Armies," proved her- own question in World War II, that it is still the backbone of any fighting force. In the American Army, as in those of other nations, it forms the integral unit around which is co-ordinated the organi- zation and function of all other military branches and services.

Despite the increased impor- tance of military aviation in the de- veloping atomic age, there is am- ple indication that the status of infantry will change but slightly. Bombs can destroy, but they can- not occupy and hold—that is the job of the foot soldier.

It is easily understandable why the Army should be concerned over its present critical shortage in infantrymen. This dilemma stems from the fact that thousands of troops trained for tactical opera- tions in the field are now com- mitted to constabulary service in occupied areas overseas and are not available for refresher courses or advanced training in their pri- mary duties. Another reason for the shortage is that young volun- teers prefer branches of the Army that require less foot work.

The task of glamorizing the in- fantry to make it more attractive to recruits should not be too dif- ficult for the War Department. In the recent conflict, the doughboys gleaned more than their share of glory, elevating the combat in- fantryman's badge to one of the most coveted and respected de- corations of the war.

exact motives were—these are questions which of course can- not now be answered; very likely, they never will be.

Mr. X, the political contact man, may have had any of a variety of reasons. Seventy-one persons already had been in- dicted on the strength of the evidence. Possibly the case against them will collapse completely now that the evidence has been spirited away.

But the greatest beneficiary of the theft is the President himself. This doesn't mean he knew anything about the theft, that he was in any way incriminated personally, that he is not embarrassed and disturbed by the affair.

Yet the fact remains that the threatened trial of the politi- cal figures who, on the face of the now missing evidence, stole the nomination for the President's hand-picked candidate for Congress, would have been one of the worst hazards the Presi- dent has yet faced.

Remember the circumstances of the election. For largely personal reasons, the President opposed the re-nomination of Congressman Slaughter. He excused his intervention in the pri- mary, from the heights of the White House, on the basis that he lived nearby.

Under the President's vigorous leadership, there was thrown against Slaughter the following political forces, in addi- tion to the White House itself: National Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, a Missourian, who with part of his staff was personally on the job during much of the campaign; the resources and out-side "hatchetmen" of the CIO-PAC; and the full strength of the re-organized Pendergast gang.

In spite of all this, Congressman Slaughter won a majority of the actual vote cast; and was "counted out" in the Pender- gast districts.

One does not need to take the word of this column for it that the primary election was corrupt and fraudulent, and that Slaughter was counted out with phony votes. There is a witness in the matter far more significant. He is none other than Harold Ickes, now a news commentator and formerly Secretary of Commerce under Roosevelt and Truman.

When the election returns were first reported, Ickes hailed the result as a vindication of President Truman, and defended the proposition of sending political heavyweights from through- out the nation into a lone Congressman's district to "eliminate" him.

But after Ickes had looked through the voting records of the Missouri primary, and heard some of the evidence now stolen, he reversed his opinion. He unhesitatingly branded the election corrupt. Those interested may read his column on the subject in the files of the former Philadelphia Record, dated September 11, 1946, and headed "Fighting Fire with Fire."

He made this summary:

"President Roosevelt accepted the support of cor- rupt city political machines, but he did not go to bed with them. . . . It has been left to President Truman to drag the Presidency right into the political muck."

And now the evidence has been stolen! And in what has all the earmarks of a large-scale "cover-up" of which the Presi- dent, on the face of it, stands to be the principal beneficiary! The relations of President Truman with the Pendergast gang in Missouri have been a red flag to the American people which thus far they have largely disregarded.

A failure in private life (his haberdashery shop went into debt during the biggest boom in American history) Harry S. Truman was a political unknown until Boss Pendergast needed a "judge" to handle some large contracts. Despite the frequently used title of "judge," Mr. Truman is not a lawyer; "judge" is simply the Missouri name for those who, in Pennsylvania, would be township or county "commissioners."

This assignment was handled so completely to the satis- faction of Boss Pendergast that he decided to reward Mr. Tru- man. A U. S. Senatorship was available. To be sure that there was no slip-up, the Pendergasts cast an extra 50,000 votes for Truman, consisting of names copied off tombstones.

After Mr. Truman was safely in the Senate, Boss Pen- dergast was tried and convicted and sent to jail for income tax evasions. He was prosecuted by the Federal authorities under President Roosevelt. A mass of evidence was heard concerning election frauds.

In the U. S. Senate, Mr. Truman defended his benefactor, Boss Pendergast. Later, after he became President, he per- secuted relentlessly the Federal attorney who had conducted the Pendergast case. And after the death of the Senior Pendergast, the President watched the "machine" being rebuilt. Recently, there have been announcements that the machine has been dis- mantled.

The connection of President Truman with Democratic gang politics is not limited to his contacts with the Pendergasts. His own nomination for the Vice-Presidency was the result of a transparent "deal" between labor-boss politicians, headed by the late Sidney Hillman of the CIO, and a band of big-city Democratic machine bosses, including the Pendergast machine, the remnants of the Kelly-Nash gang in Chicago, Hague of New Jersey, and Tammany Hall in New York City.

National Chairman Hannegan, who grew up in the Pen- dergast machine, has been protected in that spot by the Presi- dent. The most recent "white-haired-boy" of the Democratic Party, Gail Sullivan, who has done a great deal of the Presi- dent's political "brain-trusting," is a graduate of the Chicago gang.

There is great resemblance between the sensational method of "burying" the Missouri scandal by the theft of the evidence, and the way in which the Truman Administration finally "cov- ered up" the far more serious Pearl Harbor Scandal.

In that case, too, some of the most damaging evidence "disappeared." The President's own orders helped suppress testimony. The Congressional investigation was whipsawed and jerked-around from the inside. A staff of Army officers, whose existence surely could not have been unknown to the White House, went around the world "putting the heat on" to force witnesses to retract evidence previously given.

In the Slaughter case, the most aggravating breakdown was the failure of the U. S. Department of Justice to undertake the prosecution of those who stuffed the Missouri ballot-boxes. Attorney General Tom Clark never lifted a finger; the President never found fault with him, although the Congressional contest, being national in character, clearly was within the Department's jurisdiction. The eighty-one indictments found against seventy-one Pendergast small-fry were the results of activities by the State itself.

Now that the evidence has been stolen, and presumably all prosecution will break down, the Attorney General's office and the F. B. I. are very much in evidence!

mobile cars. And who wouldn't feel musical in an automobile like this! ... the tune of power its engine hums ... the rhythm of its coil-spring ride ... the lilting smoothness of its Style-Leader lines!

And the feature that makes this new "Merry Oldsmobile" even more of a popular hit is GM Hydra-Matic Drive—the fully proved, fully automatic drive that shifts gears for you through all four forward speeds—the only drive that eliminates the clutch pedal entirely! No wonder so many people are saying, "It's SMART to go automatic ... It's SMART to own an Olds!"

Joan Muffett had charge of purchasing the food for the affair, and also of the "clean-up crews," each patrol being assigned to certain duties.

The committee held a business meeting presided over by temporary chairman, John Lynn. Minutes were read by the secretary pro tem, Mrs. Paul Simpson, after which election of officers was held with the following results: chairman, Horace States; secretary, Mrs. Simpson; treasurer, Mrs. Robert Braker.

The committee gave its approval for the intermediate group to hold a rummage and bake sale in the near future—to help pay expenses for summer trips for the three intermediate patrols, which are now being planned.

The following books are being ordered by the leaders, Mrs. James A. Patton, and Mrs. Paul E. Patton, for the Girl Scout library which was started by Bristol Business Girls Club: "Ceremonies," "Arts and Crafts," "Blue Book," "Christmas and the Out of Doors," "Summer Activities," "Nature Guide," "Act It Out," "Juliette Low," "G. S. Hand Book," "Brownie Leaders Book," "Handbook for Recreation Leaders" and "Craftman's Instruction Book" also one year's subscription to "American Girl." Anyone wishing to add to the library is asked to please contact Mrs. James Patton, phone Bristol 9405. It is hoped to open the library on Sept. 16.

The women of the committee will assist the leaders with patrol crafts and projects, also help with conducting tours, special hikes, etc. The leaders announced that there will be no intermediate meetings from June 11 to Sept. 17, and no Brownie meetings from June 19 to Sept. 16, but there will be special activities.

Sentences Imposed On Six Colored Men

was also a member of the raiding party and saw empty containers in a truck body and in the rear of a sedan.

Clinton Smith, Somerton real estate man, testified that George Hogg signed a lease on February 17 for one year, renting the property for $36.75 a month from Shelton Cooper.

Earlier in the trial a State Law Enforcement officer testified that Shelton Cooper was the owner of the premises which are located in a settlement, near Trevoise.

Charles B. Owens, Liquid Control officer, testified he was the first one to enter the chicken yard and the pit where the still was located.

Sixty gallons of mash was removed from the still. There was fire in the pit and water was running into the coils and alcohol was dripping into the tub.

Trooper William Arner, of the Langhorne sub-station of the P. S. P., testified that a wallet, which was found in the chicken yard, belonged to Jasper Lewis, one of the defendants.

Three of the defendants, one of whom was in the wire enclosure, were trapped in the chicken house and yard when the raid was made.

George H. Barnhart, enforcement officer, drove one of the two cars used in raiding the premises. There were water and electric lines leading from the house to the excavation.

The still was using wheat, rye, corn and other grains.

"While Mule shows that it has been distilled only once, the next time it turns into alcohol," said Officer Barnhart.

Well, these opium dreams will pass. God does not use machines to work His will. He uses men. As Monseigneur Sheehan says, "Socialism is the compulsory organization of the chaos created by the repudiation of truth and morality."

Texas City proves that men can be kind, whether the village blacksmith, or the director or stockholder in a "soulless corporation."

It costs you money every time you don't read Want Ads in the Courier.

What the Monsanto Company and Monsanto men, in far-away plants, did for the victims at Texas City is a bright page in the record of American industry. It recalls the lines of Ella Wheeler Wilcox:

"So many faiths, so many creeds,
So many roads that wind and wind,
When just the art of being kind
Is all this old world needs."

Let this story be re-called when business is under attack.

It was said of Gladstone that he strove always to reach "that high watershed where ethics and economics meet." This news from Texas City shows that men can climb to that high plateau. It is, in fact, being reached every day by unknown men all over this great earth. But human decency is not new! Perhaps we should be glad that it is not so rare as to make the headlines!

We are living in an age bemused with fantastic dreams for "making the world so perfect that no one need be good." We are obsessed with

Legion Medals Presented At Hulmeville Exercises

HULMEVILLE, May 31—American Legion awards for two eighth grade pupils of Langhorne-Middle-town public school were presented at exercises in Beechwood Cemetery, yesterday afternoon.

The recipients of the awards were Alice Jane Rongley and Elmer Vansant, both of Trenton Road, Middletown township.

Elmer Vansant also gave "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address" as part of the program.

The Rev. Frederick M. Adams, dean of the Trinity Cathedral, Trenton, N. J., and a veteran of World War I, delivered the address of the day. Clergymen from this area participated in the program at the cemetery, and also at the brief service at Hulmeville Memorial Park.

Music was provided by the Jesse W. Soby Post, American Legion Junior Cadet drum and bugle corps. Following the parade and exercises, refreshments were served the children at the school house by Hulmeville-Middletown Parent-Teacher Association.

Pay Tribute To Those Who Served

It was the largest turnout in recent years. There were Bracken Post, No. 382, American Legion, Chester W. Terchon Post, No. 5542, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the cadet corps of both posts, sailors, boy and girl scouts and a few Spanish-American War veterans.

Past Commander Jacob C. Schmidt, Jr., presided, and the opening prayer was by the Rev. Andrew G. Solla, chaplain in the last war and pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Our Saviour, here.

The American flag was raised to the top of the new staff by Past Commanders Harry Chapin and William Mack and then the flag was lowered to half-staff. The Bristol high school band played the national anthem.

The memorial monument was dedicated by Harold Boyd, commander of Bracken Post, who said: "In the name of Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 382, American Legion, I now dedicate this monument."

"I dedicate it as a lasting tribute to the memory of those who fell in the service of our country."

"As they served America in time of war yielding their last full measure of devotion, may we serve America in time of peace."

The monument, flag and pole were blessed by the Rev. Albert Glass, assistant pastor of St. Mark's R. C. Church, who also spoke in very complimentary terms of the fine work of the Legion in having the monument erected.

There were prayers offered by Rabbi Weiner, of the synagogue of Avraham, and the Rev. Peter Pincel, rector of St. Ann's Roman Catholic Church.

Presiding Officer Schmidt introduced Captain Thomas Tanner and Comrade Jacob Helling of the Spanish-American War; Commander Clarence A. Schweizer, of the Terchon Post, and Sergeant Simpson and Roberts, of the U. S. Army Recruiting Service.

There were selections by both the corps of Terchon Post and Bracken Post.

"We have no fear from overseas," said the Rev. Pitt, the orator of the occasion. "No nation in the world can prevail against a united America."

"I fear Communism within our own borders."

Then the speaker told of how during the recent war we laid aside our differences and had united for one purpose and how we had been successful. Once the war ended, he said, we again became divided. Communists have infiltrated and Communism is being given to us many times in sugar-coated forms. "I ask you to turn aside anything that has a Communist taint."

The Rev. Pitt characterized Communism as the enemies of America. The speaker also told how Americans are becoming divided into hatreds, divided on the race issue, capital and labor are divided, and we are divided upon the subject of religion.

"It is for us, the living, to see that this nation does not perish from this earth."

A luncheon was served in the Bracken Post Home by the Cadet Boosters' Association at the conclusion of the parade.

CALVARY BAPTIST TAKES THE LEAD IN SOFTBALL GROUP

Wins Three Tensely-Fought Games During Past Week

ST. LUKE'S DROP DOWN

Croydon Team Lost in Thrill Packed Game With Bensalem

Calvary Baptist hopped into the leadership of the Lower Bucks Church Softball League as a result of winning three tensely fought ball games during the past week, giving them a total of four triumphs without a setback as the teams close out the first round of play on Monday night.

Calvary ousted St. Luke's from the top spot in the loop by outscoring the Lutherans at Croydon on Wednesday evening in a thrill-packed game by a 9-6 count after they had come from behind to win out over Bensalem in the late innings, 8-6, on Monday. Then in their final game of the week, (Thursday) they nosed out Bristol Presbyterian, 3-2, in another hard fought game called at the end of six innings because of darkness.

Two errors, Fritz Yeagle's long fly, an infield hit and Mullen's double got Bensalem off to a 2-run lead in the very first inning against Calvary. The suburbanites increased their margin to 5-0 in the second when Fritz Yeagle walked with the bases loaded and Waring followed with a single to drive in two more tallies. Calvary picked up one in the second and tied it up with four in the third on Spencer's double with two on followed by "Chart" Tomlinson's first homer of the season.

Both clubs scored in the fourth to make it 6-6 where it remained 'til Calvary broke the tie on hits by Lou Tomlinson and Harry Erny in the sixth.

There was tenseness and drama throughout the hard-fought game with St. Luke's in the battle for the league leadership Wednesday. St. Luke's scored single counters in the first two innings to lead, 2-0, one being Bartholomae's second round tripper in the second. After Calvary tied it in the third on Harry Erny's double and Spencer's fly, Lou Tomlinson errored twice in a row with two out. Then Forrester singled to give St. Luke's a 4-2 edge in their third. Calvary again tied it on "Chart" Tomlinson's two-run double in the fifth, but St. Luke's went ahead, 5-4, in the last of the fifth.

Thus it was 'til the seventh when Harry Erny scored a bunt, to knot the count again at 6-6. Then with the bases full, Walt Tomlinson drove out a grand slam home run to give the Calvary club the decision in a thrill-packed finish. St. Luke's rallied for one run in their 7th, but lost, 9-6.

Next night Calvary got off to a 2-0 lead off Dick Little, Presbyterian starting pitcher, when Ken Lewis doubled with two out to score Getz in the second. Lewis then counted on Leary's single. This was increased to 3-0 in the third when Erny tripped and scored on Spencer's single.

Presbyterian got one in the third on Jake DeWilde's triple and an outfield fly. They added their second counter in the fourth.

In the fourth Presbyterian sent Johnny Jones to the mound and he proceeded to hold Calvary scoreless over the 4th, 5th and 6th frames, striking out six in that period. Spencer kept Presbyterian away from the plate. Brittingham held Fischer's hot smash and then Little grounded out to end the fifth; while in the sixth DeWilde fanned and Walters grounded out to end the threat in that frame.

Wayne Locke hit a high drive over right fielder Kenny Lewis' head for a home run to tie the score. Umpire Scheich stopped the game because of darkness. The score reverted to the sixth inning at which point Calvary led, 3-2.

In other games played St. Luke's went wild to score 9 times in the fourth inning against First Baptist to send the latter down to its fifth straight setback. First Baptist came back with one in the fifth, two more in the sixth and finished up with another pair in the 7th on Ashby's two-run double. During the big uprising in the fourth Bob Johnson hit a homer with two on and Allan Kohler had two singles. Meyers, Coulter and Weirich had singles, while Wurtzman and Willie Bartholomae contributed doubles to account for the runs. Johnny Cole again starred for the losers.

Presbyterian overcame a 6-1 deficit with 5-run second inning against Church of Our Saviour only to have the latter break out with a 6-run rally in the 5th to win, 10-8. Cornwells scored a 10-8 victory over Church of Our Saviour in the only other game played.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

BY JOE ELBERSON

It rained there, too . . . expected to get in some trout fishing last week-end in Franklin County but one glance at the streams in that section revealed that plenty of rain had fallen there. Streams were up two and three feet and the water was considerably discolored. Did manage to get in about an hour's fishing late Saturday afternoon. Caught one 9-inch brookie and four chubs.

Local fishing notes . . . although some catfish and white perch are being taken in the Delaware River, fishing is very poor in this section at the moment. Maple Beach is probably the best bet. The recent rains are the cause for this condition.

Good meeting . . . an excellent turnout, good committee reports, and considerable constructive discussion on programs to benefit local sportsmen featured the Edgely Rod & Gun Club meeting in the Headley Manor Fire House on Tuesday evening.

The Club has taken steps to again develop trap shooting matches with other sportsmen's clubs in this area. The program will probably be mapped out so that club competitions will start late in the summer.

Local Samurians . . . local anglers can thank one of their number for a job he completed on Monday morning out at Silver Lake. Below the dam breast of the Lake scores of fish were trying to scale the dam and get into the Lake. The water was coming over with tremendous force and the fish were forced back after every attempt to scale the dam.

The matter was reported to Ollie Hobbs, a Special Fish Warden and president of the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association. Ollie worked most of the morning, and among the fish that are now safely back in the Lake are 21 of the finest large-mouth bass that we have seen in some time, one of them measuring 20 inches in length.

Federation meeting . . . next Monday evening, June 2nd, at the K. G. E. Hall, Main street, Doylestown, delegates from the County's organized sportsmen's clubs will meet at 8 p. m.

Meetings of recent months have been most interesting and lower end clubs have been well represented. The June meeting should be another good one.

Pens completed . . . the pleasant pens of the Edgely and Bristol Clubs have been completed and every detail finished. It was a long, tedious, drawn-out job, but the faithfulness of a few honest-to-goodness sportsmen saw the project through. It shouldn't be long now until the 250 day-old pheasant chicks arrive from the Game Commission's Hatchery in Schwenksville.

Don't take them now . . . in many nearby waters the bass are now over their spawning beds. They zealously guard their nests and as a consequence can be easily taken. Don't take them, however, for these two reasons: First, you are spoiling your own fun and that of every other fisherman because you will kill the hatches and future fishing will suffer as a result; second, they cannot be legally taken until July 1st, and there is a stiff penalty for having them in your possession before that date.

Rabbits plentiful . . . all reports indicate another good rabbit season this fall, with plenty of bunnies being observed in all sections of the county.

SEVERAL GAMES ARE BOOKED FOR WEEK-END

Several baseball games booked for the week-end will keep the fans busy today and tomorrow.

The Bristol Suburban League has a double-header scheduled for the Bristol Memorial Park field, first game getting under way at 1:30 o'clock. This is a continuation of the game of May 15th, called off when two players became involved in a dispute and were ordered from the game. Neither team had enough players to finish the contest.

The game will be carried on from the fourth inning with Badenhausen in front, 7-4. This contest will go nine innings while the second game is scheduled for 7 innings.

The Bristol Youth League opens its season tomorrow with four games being scheduled. The tilts will be played at Croydon, Bristol Township, Fleetwings, and Third Ward fields, starting at 2:30 o'clock.

In the independent scheduled, the Croydon "Vets" will be at home today and tomorrow playing the Butchers' Union and Philadelphia Eagles, respectively. This game will be played on Leedom's field. Next Saturday, Croydon plays Elmer, N. J., under the lights at Elmer while on Sunday, the Vets return home to meet the LaSalle Giants.

St. Ann's plays at Palmyra tomorrow, the game starting at 2:30 o'clock.

Next Sunday afternoon on Leedom's field, the Langhorne Legion will play the Democrat Club in a Bristol Suburban League contest.

YOUTH LEAGUE TO OPEN SEASON TOMORROW

Final preparations are being made for the opening games of the Bristol Youth League, which will take place tomorrow. Eight teams comprise the circuit.

In order to prepare the youngsters for better baseball, officials of the league have secured the umpires of the South Jersey Association to umpire the games.

Teams in the loop are: Fourth Ward Boys Club, Junior Hibernians, St. Ann's Juniors, Third Ward Eagles, Croydon, Bristol Terrace, Bristol Township, and Bell's Aces.

Officers of the league are: President, Joseph Diamanti; vice-president, Anthony Pfaffenrath; secretary, Daniel DiLorenzo; treasurer, Robert Sutton; advisor, Thomas Juno. The board of governors is composed of: John Hemp, Anthony Castor, Henry Morgan, and Anthony Angelo.

The Want Ad department is "Black and White" but Read all over.

ST. ANN'S NOSES OUT GOODWILL BY SINGLE RUN

Game Had To Be Called At End of Sixth, Due To Rain

SCORE AT END WAS 3-2

Opposing Hurlers Were McDevitt and Kenny Clark

In the finest game played thus far this season, St. Ann's A. A. nosed out the Goodwill Hose nine, 3-2, Thursday evening, on the Maple Beach field. The game was called at the end of the sixth because of rain.

The Saints captured their ninth straight win by scoring two runs just before the downpour. They received a break when W. Saraganes struck out but Elmer missed the third strike and the batter reached first. Cialella singled and Bert Barbetta was hit with a pitched ball. "Lou" Sassi supplied the winning base knock, a single to left.

The opposing hurlers were "Joe" McDevitt for the firemen and Kenny Clark for the Wood Streeters. Clark gave up three hits while McDevitt was nicked for five. Clark had eight strikeouts.

St. Ann's was first to score when Cialella singled, advanced to second, and scored on Barbetta's hit. Goodwill tied it in the fourth on a double by Joe Cahill and triple by Massilia. The Third Warders went ahead in the sixth when with Cahill on third, Ludwig threw wild, allowing the runner to score.

LEGION AND VOLTZ BATTLE TO A TIE

The Bristol Legion and Voltz-Texaco battled to a 3-3 deadlock Thursday evening on the high school field but Voltz-Texaco was given the game on a forfeit because the Legion used two players who were ineligible to play.

"Mike" Peterpaul and "Mike" Deitch were the hurlers in the tilt with Deitch, former Bensalem High hurler, allowing the Legionnaires three hits. The hits were the only blows that went out of the infield. Deitch fanned eight batters.

Peterpaul was solved for seven hits, two of which went to "Jimmy" Cooper, leading batsman of the league.

The ineligible players, "Ed" Capriotti and "Al" Burton, were not signed within the required number of hours to be eligible to play.
